Say-it! SAM Tablet XP1 is a lightweight Windows XP tablet that runs a lot of the software that you are already familiar with: E Z Keys™, Speaking Dynamically Pro™ or Talking Screen™.

Robust and Portable

The XP1 tablet is originally designed to withstand the rigors of industrial use. The case is made of a thin and light magnesium alloy and high-impact plastic. The unit uses all solid-state memory, so there is no hard drive and no moving parts. This leads to a robust unit that comes with a one-year warranty which can be extended to a total of three years.

The XP1 weighs less than four pounds, and comes with a shoulder strap for ambulatory use. The tablet has a built-in battery and an external battery – together, the two provide eight hours of use for a typical user. For longer life, you can purchase additional external batteries to keep charged and hot-swap (without turning off the tablet) as you need them.

Familiar Software, Easy to Use

The XP1 comes with your choice of software for communicating at home, school and work, including:

- E Z Keys* – The most powerful and flexible solution for text users needing spoken and written communication.
- Speaking Dynamically Pro and Boardmaker* – Popular software for talking interactive activities using symbols and text.
- Talking Screen* – The original dynamic display system for basic symbols and spelling.

Loud, Clear Voice

The XP1 comes with a choice of DECtalk or AT&T Natural Voices, depending on the software package that you choose. Systems with DECtalk include all nine familiar voices. For systems with AT&T Natural Voices, choose the human-sampled voice that suits you best.

Dedicated Devices

The XP1 is available as a dedicated speech generating device (SGD) to comply with Medicare guidelines. Be sure to specify a dedicated device part number when ordering.

Accessories

Mounting plates are available for mounting to wheelchair and desktop mounts. An optional integrated easel is available for using the XP1 on a desktop. Other available accessories give you more battery life, more file storage, and other benefits, as shown in the table to the left.

Some Questions and Answers

Q. "How portable is it?"

A. It weighs 3.9 pounds with the external battery installed, so it is very portable. It comes with a shoulder strap. A fully enclosed soft bag will be available soon.

Q. "What is the price?"

A. Pricing for the XP1 and all accessories is shown to the left. Be sure to specify the software and voice that are best for you, and specify a dedicated device if you need a Medicare-approved dedicated speech generating device (SGD).

Questions & Answers cont.

Q. "What is the battery life?"

A. Up to 8 hours, with the internal battery and the included external battery, depending on use. Additional external batteries and an external charger are available. You can hot-swap the external battery and get up to 5 more hours.

Q. "How long does it take to charge?"

A. It takes 6 hours to charge the internal and external battery. The external charger takes 4 hours to charge an additional external battery.

Q. "What does it come with?"

A. It includes the tablet unit with internal battery, one external battery, AC adapter, your selection of communication software and voice, software manual and CD, shoulder strap, and one-year warranty. The non-dedicated versions also include an external CD-ROM drive.

Q. "What are the most popular options?"

A. The external battery charger and additional external batteries are helpful for long periods of continuous use. The easel and tray slide are also very practical.

Q. "Are there standard user files available?"

A. Depending on the software package you buy, each comes with applicable sample users. Talking Screen and Speaking Dynamically Pro come with the full Mayer-Johnson symbol set. Plus, we can use some of the training time that is included with the purchase to help you set up some pages for your client.

Q. "How rugged is it?"

A. You should treat it like most other communication aids that have a large LCD crystal – don't drop it. Also, it is water resistant, but not waterproof. Our custom carrying case will improve the weather-resistance further. It has a clear plastic window so you can use the device while it is in the case. Most people will find the display to be visible outdoors in all but direct sunlight.

Q. "What is the warranty?"

A. One year parts and labor, through Words+. You can optionally extend the warranty to a total of three years.

Q. "Is it available as a Medicare Speech Generating Device?"

A. Yes. Our dealers can show you the non-dedicated version today. The dedicated version should be available soon. It will be just like what you see here, but you won't be able to quit the E Z Keys, Speaking Dynamically Pro or Talking Screen software and use the Windows desktop. Our funding professionals can help you start the funding process immediately.

Q. "Does it have Windows features, such as Microsoft Word, WordPad, NotePad, and Internet Explorer?"

A. The non-dedicated version will allow you to access Windows components and applications from the Windows desktop using the touch screen and on-screen keyboard. You can add a wireless card for internet access using Internet Explorer—work with your local dealer if you need this functionality. (The dedicated version is prevented from running Windows desktop features--this is not a Words+ limitation, but is a requirement specified by Medicare and other agencies for all computer-capable communication aids.)
