3.5 POUNDS Portable

AAC Device

ATI

's MiniMerc is a smaller version of the Mercury, with most of the same features. It is a fully-integrated Windows® XP-based computer and Augmentative and Alternative Communication (AAC) device that is portable, powerful, and easy to use. MiniMerc helps people with communication, access or learning difficulties lead more independent and productive lives.

DURABLE AND PORTABLE

MiniMerc balances durability and portability with its sleek aluminum design, making it easy to transport between home, school or work.

The detachable hand/shoulder strap is ideal for an ambulatory user and can be removed when you use the MiniMerc on a table or mounted to a wheelchair. For wheelchairs, use our MiniMerc mounting plate and any mounting option listed on the last page.

POWERFUL & CONVENIENT

Use the MiniMerc's external CD/RW drive to install any Windows XP-compatible software and make backup copies of your files. With the optional CardBus Cable connected to the drive, you can play DVDs.

COMMUNICATION BOARD SETS

Functionally Speaking is a new 3-set series of ATI-designed communication boards that gives device users a powerful and flexible communication solution. These board sets are pre-installed on MiniMerc and require Speaking Dynamically Pro software to run.

ENVIRONMENTAL CONTROL

MiniMerc includes the same infrared technology as the Mercury. Over 4,000 pre-programmed signals for most brands of televisions, VCRs, DVD players, satellite and cable receivers are built into the unit. Additionally, the MiniMerc's X-10 command set allows users to turn on and off lights and household appliances (additional equipment required).

ACCESSORIES

Our most popular MiniMerc accessories:
